

TEXAS COMMUNITY CARE EXPANDS MEDICARE HEALTH PLAN OFFERINGS IN TEXAS

Texas Community Care has just announced the expansion of their Medicare Advantage health plans in Beaumont and Amarillo. With sister organizations providing Medicare Advantage health plans in 14 other states, Texas Community Care and their corresponding affiliates have provided health care to Medicare beneficiaries since 2005.

Ranked the number one HMO in 16 of the 21 markets in their footprint and the third-ranked provider of Medicare Advantage plans nationally within their markets, these locally branded health plans offer value-oriented options for small to medium-sized communities that currently may not have affordable Medicare health plan options available.

Highlights of Texas Community Care's plans include: No or low monthly premium, routine annual physicals and flu shots, routine vision, preventative dental benefits, and a constantly-growing network of providers and hospitals.

The key factors to Texas Community Care and their affiliates' success and continued growth are a focus on rural markets, strong, unique partnerships with provider and broker networks, and coordinated care provided at the local level, with physician "home base" providers of primary care. Texas Community Care prides itself in offering strong benefit packages, while keeping their members' out-of-pocket costs low.

Texas Community Care will now be available in the following new areas: Hardin, Jefferson, Armstrong, Carson, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Potter and Randall counties in Texas.
